Schoonhoven is well known for its silver. From medieval times off silversmiths are active. This can be recognized today by means of the monumental workshops, houses of the silversmiths, over 30 galleries and specialised shops. Here the gold- and silversmiths show traditional as well as modern jewellery, utensils and especially pieces of art in silver. In the Silver- and Clock museum, located in the 17th century Arsenal, you will see an extensive collection of Dutch utensils in silver from 1600 off. You will be informed about shining table silver, hallmarks and craftsmanship. In the museum the morning coffee and the lunch will be served.

Other points of interest in the city are the House for “Noble Crafts” in the previous Jewish synagogue and the silver gallery in the water tower, one of Schoonhoven’s landmarks.

Furthermore you will see parts of the old city wall. Schoonhoven was a fortress of the first water defence line of Holland. The Ferry gate is the only existing of the previous five gates. When the water level of the river is high, it still protects the city by being closed. For private sightseeing and shopping one hour is reserved.
